

Sunflowers' Newsletter

9.11.2020

Dear Parents,

This week, we will be recording observations of children as 'WOW' moments. They will get 'WOW' stickers on their chart at school. Please read more about 'WOW' moments on the class webpage. Remember, to check the learning tab on the website to see photos of the children— this is usually updated on Monday evenings.

Reading books

Reading books will be changed this week.

Please ensure that your child has their reading folder at school on the correct day

Asia (black group)= Monday
Africa (yellow group)= Tuesday
America (green group)= Wednesday
Europe (blue group)= Thursday
Australia (red group)= Friday

Maths – It's Me 1,2,3

This week, we are looking at different ways of showing 1,2 and 3. Ask your child to draw you a number of dots/objects/ pictures. Ask them questions like- 'How many will you have if you draw one more?' 'What if I hide one, how many now?'

Phonics

This week ,we will be learning the sounds b,f,e,l. You can help your child to practise these sounds by looking for things around the house or outside beginning with the sound. Spend time reviewing previous sounds learnt as well.

PE kits

PE will take place again this Friday. Please can we ask that PE kits only come to school on Friday. Due to our outdoor cloakroom, the kits could be wet and cold if left at school all week.

School dinners

At school, we are still telling the children every day what is on the dinner menu. Although we encourage the children to not have the same meal every day, it is their choice and many of them are comfortable ordering the same food daily. If you would like your child to have something specific or try something new then please discuss the menu with them before they come to school.

Thank you for your support,
Mrs Munday and Mrs Beckley
