

BRITISH VALUES

As part of our ongoing commitment to the British Values Curriculum and our unique Rainbow Curriculum here at St Anselm's, we invite you to read about this story with your children. Your involvement is crucial in reinforcing these values and qualities at home, so please take a moment to explore the themes and talk about them together. Let's work hand in hand to inspire thoughtful conversations and help our children be good friends, deep thinkers and morally responsible citizens with an active voice, who are informed to make positive contributions to society.

Why is discovery important?

In the news this week

A discovery of more than 6,000 ancient Maya structures, including a city of pyramids, has been named Valeriana. Hidden by jungle canopy in the Mexican state of Campeche, the city was discovered by chance. A student at Tulane University, in the US, found the city with the help of Lidar, a light detection technology, that uses lasers to map landscapes.

Things to talk about at home ...

- > Share what your definition of 'discovery' is with someone at home. Ask what their definition is.
- > Can you think of any big discoveries in the world made during your lifetime? Ask others at home whether they can recall any. Talk about the impact each had.

Which British Value?

MUTUAL RESPECT

We respect each other.

We expect others and expect them to show us respect.

What can we learn from this?

Learning about the people, who lived in the past and live across the world today, can help us understand and celebrate how different we all are!

SELF APPRECIATION AND MUTUAL RESPECT

What can we learn from this?

Learning about people who lived in the past and those who live across the world today fosters an appreciation for the richness of human diversity. It helps us recognise that differences in culture, traditions, and perspectives are something to celebrate rather than fear. By understanding these differences, we cultivate mutual respect, valuing others for their unique experiences and contributions. This broader perspective unites us, promoting empathy and reducing prejudice, as we come to see the world through the eyes of others.
