

BRITISH VALUES

As part of our ongoing commitment to the British Values Curriculum and our unique Rainbow Curriculum here at St Anselm's, we invite you to read and this story with your children. Your involvement is crucial in reinforcing these values and qualities at home, so please take a moment to explore the themes and talk about them together. Let's work hand in hand to inspire thoughtful conversations and help our children be good friends, deep thinkers and morally responsible citizens with an active voice, who are informed to make positive contributions to society.

In the news this week

This year, Anti-Bullying Week takes place on 11th – 15th November. Bullying is defined as the repetitive, intentional harming of one person or group by another person or group, where the relationship involves an imbalance of power. There are many ways that schools are raising awareness and taking action to tackle bullying.

Things to talk about at home ...

- What do you know about Anti-Bullying Week?
- This year's theme is 'Choose Respect', what is your definition of respect? Ask others at home.
- This week's story explores the role of Anti-Bullying Ambassadors. Do you think this a good way of tackling bullying? Can you think of any other strategies?

Which British Value?

MUTUAL RESPECT

We respect each other.
We expect others and expect them to show us respect.

What can we learn from this?

Our behaviour and words can affect others. Listening to each other, showing kindness, celebrating differences and choosing respect can help to make everyone feel happy, comfortable and safe.

KINDNESS AND COMPASSION AND MUTUAL RESPECT

What can we learn from this?

Kindness, compassion, and mutual respect are foundational to the anti-bullying agenda, as they create an environment where individuals feel valued and safe. Demonstrating kindness fosters a sense of inclusion, while compassion allows individuals to empathise with others' struggles, reducing the likelihood of hurtful behaviours. Mutual respect ensures that differences are celebrated rather than targeted, promoting harmony within diverse communities. Together, these qualities empower individuals to challenge bullying, support victims, and cultivate a culture of understanding and support.
