Sunflowers' Newsletter

Last week the children spent time retelling the story of Little Red riding hood they were also set a special task from the Woodcutter to help find the missing wolf. The children made Wanted posters and eventually captured him. Then they helped the wolf to write Sorry cards to the people he has upset. Please see the updated pictures on the 'Spring Learning' page to see some of their super writing.

Story

We will be exploring the Easter story this week from Palm Sunday through to Easter Sunday, encouraging the children to think about others' feelings and retell parts of the story.

Maths

This week we will be using the number blocks Maths resources to explore one more, one less as well as working on number formation.

Phonics

We will continue using ditty books for our reading and writing.
We will be reviewing red words for this week and so the video on Google Classroom will not be updated. Please continue practising these words.

Reading books

To ensure that all books are changed before the Easter holidays we ask that red group please return their books on Thursday.
Over the holidays feel free to use the texts available on Oxford Owl online.

Remember school closes early this Thursday for the Easter holidays. Children will be picked up at 1pm, unless they have a sibling who leaves at a later time.

Wishing you all a happy Easter and a restful holiday.
