

YEAR R NEWSLETTER 6.7.2026

The children wrote some super stories last week. they thought of characters, a sport they played, a problem that they had and a solution. At the end of term, you will be sent their folders of work home, including their stories which you can share.

This week, in Drawing Club we will be exploring the story of Handa's Surprise.

Maths

We are consolidating the maths that we have already learnt including number bonds, doubles, addition, subtraction, more and less.

Phonics

We are revising all the sounds learnt so far and practising reading more fluently. The children are also learning to write longer sentences.

Reading

This week will be the last week for new reading books. Next week, we will collect in the books on your child's book changing day so please make sure that their folders are in school on the right day. The children have made such good progress in their reading; it is very important that they keep practising over the summer holidays so that they are ready for Y1. Early reader books are widely available from libraries to continue practising. There are also ebooks available on the Phonics Shed website (please only read chapter 2 and chapter 3 books at this stage). If you have lost your login details, please contact the school office and I will get back to you.

Tapestry

As mentioned last week, your tapestry accounts will be deactivated in the next week. You will soon be given the option to download your child's 'journal'. Please note, this cannot be done on the app, only on the website which can be accessed from any internet browser.

The following link shows how to download the journal

The journal will also be added to your child's arbor account.

Thank you for your continued support.
